Captain Astrid

A note for grown-ups

This printable workbook is designed for second graders (ages 7-8) and builds on first-grade fundamentals with long vowels, blends and digraphs, sight words, contractions, parts of speech, longer reading passages, and descriptive writing — all in a playful Viking-adventure theme. Plan on 10-15 minutes per mission. Encourage your reader to sound things out, write neatly, and answer in full sentences when they can. Happy sailing!

hop + e → hope

tub + e → tube

bit + e → bite

rod + e → rode

Your turn — add the silent E and write the new word:

pin + e → _____

cut + e → _____

mad + e → _____

rip + e → _____

tap + e → _____ hug + e → _____ they are → _____ did not → _____ she is → _____ we will → _____

More than one? Time for a plural. Three simple rules:

Most words: add -s e.g. ship → ships

Ends in s, x, ch, sh: add -es

e.g. box → boxes

Ends in consonant + y: y becomes ies

Bonus — circle every adjective in this sentence:

The brave Viking pulled the heavy chest from the cold, dark cave.

Bram found an old map under a pile of rope. Three dotted lines led to the peak of Stormy Mountain, and a tiny red X marked something hidden at the top.

"We have to climb it," said Astrid. So they packed bread, two warm coats, and Mossy the puppy, and set off before the sun came up.

The path was steep. Halfway up, a storm rolled in. Rain soaked their helmets. Mossy whined. But Bram remembered the map and led them under a wide stone ledge to wait.

When the rain stopped, they reached the top. The X wasn't gold. It was a tiny telescope, polished and brass, with a note: "For the brave one who finishes the climb."

Answer the questions in full sentences:

1. What did Bram find under the rope?

2. Why did they stop under the stone ledge?

3. What word in the story means shiny / clean and bright? soaked

polished

steep

4. Do you think they will use the telescope? Why?

Mossy was sniffing the rocks near the shore when she found a smooth, blue egg in the sand. It was warm, but no bird was watching it.

Astrid scanned the cliffs and spotted a sea-bird circling and crying high above. "Her nest!" said Astrid. "She must have dropped it."

Bram tied a basket to a rope. Astrid carefully placed the egg inside. Slowly, slowly, Bram climbed the cliff with Mossy watching from below.

When he reached the nest, the bird flapped excitedly. Bram set the egg gently among the others. The mother bird tucked it close and looked at him as if to say thank you.

Answer the questions:

1. Where did Mossy find the egg?

2. How did Bram get the egg back to the nest?

3. The word carefully in the story means: in a hurry with care

loudly

4. What lesson does this story teach?

---
